

GREATEST BATTLE OF HISTORY IS RAGING ON THE WESTERN FRONT

Allies Striving Desperately To Take "Hindenburg Line" And Clear French Soil Of Enemy

HUMAN LIFE NOT BEING CONSIDERED

Should The Teutons Be Defeated They Would Be Compelled To Fall Back To Belgian Frontier

(International News Service.)

London, March 23.—Since the battle of the Marne, when Paris was saved and probable defeat of the allies was averted, there have been no engagements on the western front equal in fateful consequences to the gigantic duel of men and big guns that is raging today from the Aisne river to the northern end of the Somme line.

Falling back from their old front, up and down which the tide of war has surged for more than two years, the Germans have evidently made a stand along what is known as the "Hindenburg line," west of Cambrai, St. Quentin and Laon. Official dispatches of the British and French war offices show that a gigantic conflict has begun there.

It is evident from the dispatches that the battle is a bloody one in which each side is striving without a thought of human sacrifice to crush down the adversary's resistance. Should the Germans be forced out of their new positions they might have to retire all the way to the Belgian frontier.

RIVER RISING TO 20-FOOT CREST

TENNESSEE AGAIN BEGINS CLIMB TO THE DANGER MARK. HEAVY RAINFALL.

The Tennessee river has begun its climb back to the danger mark. This morning the gauge at Decatur read 18.1 feet, according to the report of Mrs. A. H. Irons, official observer, and the river was rising. The Chattanooga weather bureau predicted a crest of 20 feet, which will be reached early next week. This is but one foot lower than the danger mark.

The wet spell shows no signs of abating. Last night the rain again descended in a torrential downpour, the total rainfall for the night being .33 inch here. The deluge was general throughout the Tennessee Valley, with 1.4 inches at Chattanooga, 1.20 inches at Bridgeport and .61 inch at Guntersville. Today the river stood at 22 feet at Chattanooga, 16 feet at Bridgeport and 29.6 feet at Guntersville. It was raining this morning at Chattanooga and was cloudy at other valley points.

Convict Pedagogue Fails Make Good From This County

Inefficiency proved the undoing of Arthur A. Strock the Morgan county teacher who was sent up in 1916 for five years for forgery, according to reports from Montgomery, which state that Governor Henderson has revoked the parole that allowed the man to teach in the convict camps. Strock has been put back to hard labor. It had been thought that his education would qualify him as a pedagogue. It will be recalled that Strock forged the endorsement of the J. H. Calvin Company to a check for $15 which he later cashed at the City National Bank. He had obtained the signature by correspondence with the firm. The forgery was a clever piece of work.

Kaiser On Verge Of Nervous Collapse

(International News Service.) The Hague, March 21.—Emperor William is on the verge of a nervous collapse, it was stated in private dispatches from Berlin today. It is said the Kaiser has gone to Hamurg to take the cure, and that he might receive the chancellor there for a conference instead of at headquarters.

MIGHTY BATTLE STARTS IN WESTERN FRANCE.

(International News Service.)

London, March 23.—A mighty battle is developing in France west of the Cambrai-St. Quentin-La Frere-Laon line. It is indicated by dispatches of the French and British war offices. It is reported in press dispatches from the new front that the Anglo-French troops have made their latest advances in heavy snow storms while row after row of German guns were defied.

The fact that the allies have come under the concentrated fire of German gunners is taken by many war critics to mean that the Germans have decided to stand on the "Hindenburg line" and that their retreat is virtually at an end.

FRENCH OFFENSIVE IN MACEDONIA CONTINUES.

(International News Service.)

Berlin, March 23.—The French offensive in Macedonia continues, however, only one attack was delivered on Thursday, the war office reported today, and it was repulsed.

GERMANS CLAIM HEAVY LOSSES INFLECTED ON ALLIES

(International News Service.)

Berlin, March 23.—Fighting activity has increased on the North Sea coast of West Flanders and in the Arras sector, the German war office announced today. Violent fighting is in progress between Arras and the Aisne river. Heavy losses have been inflicted upon the allies, it was stated.

Grand Jury Still Probes Jail Escape

(International News Service.)

Birmingham, March 23.—Until the last scrap of evidence has been taken and the last fact in connection with the recent jail delivery has been ascertained, the grand jury of the circuit court will keep up the investigation begun Tuesday morning within two hours after the escape occurred. "I understand you desire to further consider the matter," said Judge William E. Fort Thursday afternoon, when the grand jury handed in its report. "You do so, and go to the bottom of it and your services will be greatly appreciated by the public."

Engine Shortage Serious Menace

(International News Service.)

Washington, March 23.—In case of war the American transportation system will be inadequate to move troops and munitions as quickly as desirable because of the shortage of locomotives, according to confidential information just laid before the interstate commission and the war department by railroad executives. The commission was told one of the principal reasons for the serious car shortage still being felt in some sections is the locomotive shortage.

CONGRESS TO BRUSH ASIDE PARTY LINES IN MEETING CRISIS

PARTY LEADERS ARRIVE TO MAKE PLANS TO RUSH UP DEFENSE MEASURES.

(International News Service.)

Washington, March 23.—The organization of the next house of representatives, about which politicians have been fretting and stewing since last November, isn't worrying Speaker Champ Clark to any great extent.

The Honorable Missouri returned to Washington today to prepare things for the opening of the extra session, April 2. One of the first things he did was to calmly predict his re-election to the chair.

"It will take just one hour and forty minutes to do the job. Get out your pencils, young men, and I'll give you the program. Put the preacher down for 10 minutes prayer. It will take 40 minutes to establish a quorum. Then there'll be a 10-minute nominating speech and another 40 minutes for a roll call on the vote. The majority will be from 1 to 5. That's all there is to it."

(International News Service.)

Washington, March 23.—Speaker Champ Clark and Majority Leader Claude Kitchen reached Washington today among the vanguard of legislators to grease the legislative ways for a swift action in the national emergency.

The speaker will go to the White House for a conference with President Wilson. The president will lay before the speaker an outline of the legislation which he believes necessary to put the government on a footing to meet the emergency.

Distinguished Visitor Declares State of War Exists With The German Empire

"If they want to build a nitrate plant in this country, unless they go way out west, and I do not think they will, the only place for it is at Muscle Shoals." This encouraging statement made here today by Thos. R. Marshall, vice-president of the United States, to a Daily reporter, while the first lieutenant of President Wilson was in Albany-Decatur en route to Florence, where he will speak tonight, caused a wave of optimism to sweep over the cities. It was the first intimation from such an authoritative source that the Shoals will be selected by the inter-departmental board for the site of the $20,000,000 plant.

Mr. Marshall reached Decatur shortly after 10 o'clock this morning over the Louisville & Nashville from Birmingham. He is in the South on a lecture tour.

"I am filling an engagement made at Atlanta three years ago," he said. "I told a friend of mine over there I would deliver an address in the Georgia capital, but it seemed that I would never get an opportunity to do it. Recently I decided I had better make that speech or cancel the engagement altogether. I was invited also to speak in Florence and am on my way over there now."

"I do not know whether I will see the Shoals or not," he said in answer to an inquiry. "I really do not need to see the water power site, for if we build a nitrate plant, unless we go way out west, the only place for it is at the Shoals."

A Democrat—No Special Car.

The vice president of the greatest nation in the world was not standing in a lavishly furnished hotel suite when he made that statement; under

NAVY WILL BUY ALL U-BOAT DESTROYERS PLANTS CAN BUILD

CONFERENCE OF AMERICAN WARSHIP BUILDERS IS CALLED IN WASHINGTON.

(International News Service.)

Washington, March 23.—The navy department is prepared to buy any number of torpedo boat destroyers the ship yards of the country can lay down, it was made clear by Secretary Daniels today.

Accordingly a conference of all the warship builders will be held here tomorrow for the purpose of ascertaining the possibility for constructing more than the 15 destroyers already authorized.

The most important consideration in the minds of officials is speed. Ordinarily it takes two years to build a destroyer, but the department insists that the craft contracted for be finished within 15 months and within 12 months if possible.

No Revolution In Germany, Times Finds

(International News Service.)

New York, March 23.—The New York Times today printed the following special from its Copenhagen correspondent: "I have made inquiry about rumors of revolution in Germany and am able to state that no foundation exists at all for such reports."

(International News Service.)

New York, March 23.—The White Star liner Baltic arrived at Liverpool this morning, according to advices to the line officers here today.

SEVENTH AMERICAN SHIP SINCE FEB. 1 SUNK BY GERMANY

Tank Steamer Healdton, Flying Stars and Stripes, Attacked By U-Boat Outside Barred Zone

ONLY ADDS FUEL TO FIRES OF WAR

Washington Speeds Up Preparations For National Defense, Officials Believe That No Ships Are Now Safe

(International News Service.)

Rotterdam, March 23.—It is reported from Ymuiden that 33 or 34 persons may have been killed when the United States oil tank ship Healdton was sunk by a submarine.

(International News Service.)

London, March 23.—Survivors landed in Holland from the United States tank steamer Healdton, the seventh American vessel sunk by German submarines since Feb. 1, declared the steamer was flying signals which made her nationality plain at the time of the attack, says a dispatch from Ymuiden today.

The early morning advices did not give the names of the Americans among the victims but stated that there were thirteen Americans aboard. According to statements made by survivors to United States consular representatives in Holland, the Healdton was sunk without warning Wednesday night. At the time she was outside the barred zone waters on the Dutch coast.

The London papers call the sinking of the American ship "another cause why the United States should no longer delay a declaration of war against Germany."

GRAVE TENSION FELT AT LOSS OF AMERICAN SHIP.

(International News Service.)

Washington, March 23.—Destruction of the Standard Oil Company tanker Healdton with the consequent loss of 21 lives merely added to the grave tension today in official circles. It increases the list of crimes which will be cited to congress when that body meets one week from next Wednesday. It is not expected that any new action will be made at this time. The very fact that the tanker was torpedoed without warning almost in the very shadow of the Terhelling light ship on the coast of neutral Holland intensifies the tension here and brings home to officialdom proof that no vessel is safe anywhere on the ocean from submarine frightfulness. Official report has been requested by the state department.

President Wilson is in direct charge of all defense preparations. At the presidential request Secretary of War Baker has summoned the advisory council to meet here tomorrow with the Council of National Defense. At that time reports will be presented by all committees showing what has already been accomplished. It has also been arranged for the committee on labor of the council, of which Samuel Gompers is chairman, to be here when congress convenes April 2 to advise plans for speeding up all along the line in defense preparations.

Officials still were angered today over the mediation suggestion fathered in Sweden and proposed to the American minister at Stockholm, Ira Nelson Morris.

KAISER CALLS CONFERENCE ON AMERICAN SITUATION.

(International News Service.)

Amsterdam, March 23.—A conference of the Kaiser, Field Marshal von Hindenburg and Von Bethmann-Hollweg has been called to discuss foreign affairs, but particularly German-American relations. A "decisive decision" may be arrived at, it was hinted.

SIX AMERICANS LANDED FROM STEAMER HEALDTON

(International News Service.)

London, March 23.—Six American citizens were among the survivors landed in Holland from the United States steamship Healdton, which was sunk by a German submarine, says a dispatch from Amsterdam today. The telegram gives the Dutch newspaper Handelsblad as authority for the statement. There were 13 Americans in the crew of the ship, leaving seven dead or missing.

SINKING OF STEAMER COST U. S. HALF MILLION.

Washington, March 23.—The sinking of the Healdton in neutral waters by a German submarine cost Uncle Sam almost half a million dollars cash, as the Standard Oil tanker was insured for $499,000 in the federal war risk bureau.

RUSSIAN WOMEN WILL GET BALLOT

CONSTITUTIONAL ASSEMBLY TO BE SELECTED BY EQUAL SUFFRAGE, IS PLAN NOW.

(International News Service.)

Petrograd, March 23.—Russian women are to get the ballot. Announcement was made today that it has been settled that women shall vote for members of the constitutional assembly.

REVOLUTIONISTS TAKE CHARGE OF CAESAR'S WINTER PALACE.

(International News Service.)

London, March 23.—The imperial winter palace in Petrograd, one of the most stately and gorgeous buildings in the world, where formerly were held the brilliant affairs of the autocratic Russian court, is to be the scene of the first great decisive step toward the liberation of Russia from the shackles of Russian political bondage. A dispatch from Copenhagen quoted the Social Demokrat as saying that the palace has been seized by the Russian revolutionists and will be put to government uses. The red flag of the revolution now floats above the edifice.

The crown jewels of the Russian imperial family were kept at the winter palace and the seizure of the building has aroused reports that the costly and historic gems were taken over by the revolutionary treasury.

The new Russian government has been recognized by England, France and Italy, in addition to the United States.

ALLIES NAVY LOSS IS 850,000 TONS

GERMANS CLAIM DESTRUCTION OF MORE VESSELS THAN U. S. NAVY CONTAINS.

(International News Service.)

Berlin, March 23.—"By the destruction of another French battleship of the Danton type, the warship losses of our enemies, excluding auxiliary cruisers, have reached in round figures, 850,000 tons," the Overseas News Agency announced today.

"This equals the combined tonnage of Russia and Japan at the beginning of the war and was only 50,000 tons inferior to the United States navy, which was the third largest at the outbreak of the war."

"One of our airships on the night of March 20-21 efficiently bombarded English military establishments at Mudros on the island of Lemnos."

LET'S GET BUSY

IN AN INDUSTRIAL WAY.

The time has come to do something in an industrial way.

The Albany Board of Commerce is organized, it has employed a permanent secretary, it is in action.

Its first venture is to form a company to operate an overall factory. The shares of stock are $100 each. The plant will be small, but it should prove profitable.

If this venture succeeds, confidence will be established, and the groundwork for greater accomplishment will have been laid. If it fails, we will be back in the old rut again. Pessimism will rule. The "never say die" spirit that has made Atlanta and a hundred other places will have been crushed in its infancy.

Talk is cheap. Moral support is commendable. But it takes money to build plants. And it takes liberal-minded and far-seeing men to supply this money.

Ten thousand dollars invested in a store here will only help to crowd the field. The same sum of money invested in a manufacturing industry, with an outlook for growth and expansion, may do what the initial investment of a small amount did to Flint, Mich.

Not only should Albany wake up, but Decatur as well.

Physical limitations make the two towns one, regardless of the number of names used. There should be co-operation among business men along the line of general development.

Now is the time to set things moving!

A GERMAN REVOLUTION MIGHT END THE WAR.

MIGHT END THE WAR.

The termination of the war is devoutly to be hoped for. Could the great cataclysm be brought to an end at some early time, the map of the world would not necessarily undergo startling changes, human life would be saved and vast property interests conserved.

There are but two prospects for peace. One is the overthrow of the armies of the Central Powers, necessitating a prolonged struggle and a costly sacrifice of blood and treasure. The other is an uprising within the domains of the Kaiser, patterned after that of the Russian revolt, and the substitution of a republican form of government for the imperial monarchy.

The latter is much to be preferred. It would be more far reaching in its effects, for it would remove at one fell stroke the tyrannous heel of the Kaiser from the necks of an hundred million subjects and would sound the death knell of militarism, which alone is responsible for the world-wide holocaust. It would remove the necessity for the complete dismemberment of the German empire, and would advance the cause of liberty hundreds of years.

And why is it not possible that this revolution should come? The mutterings of German discontent are becoming ominous, despite censored dispatches and official repression of facts. Food riots are reported from many of the larger cities of the Fatherland, and these reports may be believed at least in part. They tell the story of a nation tired of war. They speak eloquently of the dying of a hope for conquest of the world. They are the expression of the common people, those who have borne the brunt of battle; who have paid the price of glory only to see the bauble fade away. They are the first evidences of returning sanity to a nation run mad.

Almost within a night the Romanoff dynasty that for four centuries has ruled the Russian proletariat with ruthless tyranny was toppled from its throne. The heaven of liberty that had been working silently despite the terrors of bleak Siberia, the mailed fist of the bureaucracy and the savage cruelty of the secret police had accomplished a sweeping change. Thought, that invincible force that must be reckoned with even when its processes are slow, had asserted its supremacy over established order, veneration for class and superstition. The spark that had flickered in the heart of the peasant had flared into flame. What the terrors of the French revolution had done for France, this silent movement for the advancement of man had done for Russia.

Enlightened Germany, socialistic at root, militaristic through the trend of circumstances, may yet will to be free. What the Slav has done the Teuton can do. Both are a practical people, neither given to dreams not to questioning the right of self-appointed rulers to wield the rod of authority. Both, when aroused, are magnificent in their strength. Both are capable of the highest idealism, and both have the same incentive to strike for freedom. It would be a glad day for the world should the sturdy Teutons set up in the seat of the Hohenzollerns a representative form of government.

America, the land of enlightenment and liberty, would be first to welcome this great people to the galaxy of republics. America, the enemy of frightfulness and destruction, would join in hosannas for the delivery of this people from the galling chains forged by a militant, menacing monarchy.

"CONSTABLE" BATSON SHOULD RESIGN FROM OFFICE.

Every theatre-goer is familiar with the mental workings of the rube "constable" who does comedy parts. Always, this minion of the law arrives at conclusions by processes that are much slower than those of the nimble witted villain. It seems typical of the species that they should so live that they would be caricatured thus. A big bunch of badge and guff and strut, and very little efficiency—these things go to make up the constabulary as the funny paper and the low comedian see them.

Jefferson county, which is largely Birmingham, appears to have fallen into the ways of more bucolic regions and to have elected as sheriff a man who is but poorly equipped for the place. He is given a clean bill of health from the standpoint of honesty, by the Birmingham press, and hence must be a good citizen and a conscientious one. However, it is apparent from the recent revelations of his methods of keeping jail that by entering politics he spoiled a good cross roads preacher or perhaps an excellent farm hand. The report of the grand jury, which probed the escape of a number of desperate criminals from the prison, makes it very plain that men under sentence of death were trusted much more implicitly by the sheriff than is the average church pillar by the bank. Oh, for a financier of such supreme gullibility! This must be the prayer of every bankrupt.

A brief extract from the grand jury report says:

We wish, first, to direct attention to the custom, which seems to have existed in the county jail for a long number of years, and which has recently been disapproved by other grand juries, which custom has placed prisoners, charged with and convicted of serious crimes, as "trusties," with various degrees of power and control over other prisoners. We find that this system has reached the point that prisoners, convicted of the most serious crimes, have been used as inside wardens, not only within easy access of the keys, but with actual custody thereof.

On last Tuesday morning when the prisoners escaped, Wade Allen, serving a sentence in the county jail for manslaughter and H. W. Cole, with an appeal pending in the supreme court, after a conviction for murder in the second degree, were practically in control of the white and colored departments of the inside of the jail. A number of negro prisoners were being used as cooks, one of these negroes being charged with the offense of robbery. Tony Malone, one of the prisoners who escaped, and who had at the time, pending in the supreme court his appeal from a judgment sentencing him to death, was used as an inside trusty, in the white department, helping to carry breakfast to the white prisoners.

The custom of treating the trusties as wardens, and as on terms of equality with the regularly paid officials was of such age and so strongly engrained upon the system that at the very time three condemned murderers were planning and executing their escape from the jail, the inside warden, Mr. W. R. Orr, was taking breakfast in the cell with Wade Allen, a trusty, and Tony Malone and Sam Macina, which breakfast was paid for by the prisoners. It can, therefore, be easily seen that the escape was primarily made possible by the system of relying upon prisoners, which trust would lull into a feeling of false security by the paid wardens charged with the responsibility of the custody of the prisoners.

Thus it is made clear that back of the lack of discipline in the Jefferson county jail was the pernicious fee system, and back of all this was graft. Prisoners, men deprived of their liberty by the mandates of the law, were at the mercy of this plunderbund which to save a few pennies daily allowed deep-dyed murderers to buy food for the guards in exchange for liberties and privileges. A sheriff who earns fifty thousand dollars a year for economy's sake turned over the keys of the jail to criminals of every class, who became not only "trusties," but servants as well. It is no defense of the system that it had been in vogue for years. To continue to plunder the public treasury for inefficient service or no service at all is not the highest virtue that an office holder could possess.

"Constable" Batson, sheriff of Jefferson county, was probably guilty of no higher crime than incompetence. And not until incompetence is made a capital offense—as it is in China—will the officer of the law become diligent in the discharge of his full duty.

Just for an example, and for temporary moral effect, the sheriff of Jefferson county should be impeached. If not impeached, he should resign as a rebuke to those who failed to remove him from office.

THE PRO-GERMANS AND PACIFISTS MISUNDERSTAND.

"Never has any country entered a war with its people less divided," comments the Louisville Courier-Journal on the war on which the American republic is about to embark with the imperial German government.

With the exception of relatively small groups of persons in various parts of the United States, this assertion is true. The Daily does not believe that the country will be harassed and hindered by Tories and renegades as it was during the revolutionary war, the war of 1812, the Indian wars, the Mexican war or the civil war.

But what to do with the pacifists and pro-Germans will be a big problem, even small though their number may be. For the most part the pacifists, we will admit for the sake of argument, are men devoutly devoted to peace. Some of them are merely politicians who have lost their popularity and are trying to ride back into public favor on the peace issue. Others of them are obstinate persons who generally differ with everybody else on everything. Some few of them must be in the pay of the German government. Others of them are sincere, honest gentlemen who desire to keep this country out of war, but who are totally ignorant of the temper of the people of the United States and who are naturally, though perhaps unconsciously, inclined to favor the German side of the world argument.

Of the pro-Germans we find as many classes. Some of them are naturalized Americans but they count themselves in reality as yet subjects of Emperor William. They have forgotten the harsh militarism of the Fatherland, but they remember the vine covered hills along the Rhine, the liberal camaraderie of their native beer gardens and their many friends and relatives in the land of their nativity. Men of this class have not counted the cost of war with Germany and they have forgotten the joys of their new freedom and prosperity on American shores. Some other German-Americans are merely stupid; they will not be a problem to handle during the war. There are other pro-Germans, shrewd, alert, without fear, who represent unofficially and in the capacity of paid spies, the German government. These men will have to be dealt with in the customary manner before their influence in America is crushed out.

The trouble with the pacifists and the German sympathizers in America is that they do not understand the causes of the present war nor do they appreciate the enormity of the insults the United States has suffered at the hands of kilted Germany.

They have overlooked the fact that the war is a death struggle between civilization and democracy on the one hand and an absolute monarchial military machine on the other. The United States will raise the mailed hand only to protect its own people and the rights of humanity. If Germany wins, democracy in the world will be dead, and civilization will be set back ten centuries.

A GOOD SELECTION.

The Morgan County Board of Education is to be congratulated on naming Prof. J. C. Tidwell county superintendent of public instruction for another four-year term. During his incumbency Prof. Tidwell has done a splendid work for the educational advancement of the county, and this deserved the reward that it received. Under his continued administration, and after the additional tax levy for school purposes is voted, still larger strides in an educational way may be confidently anticipated.

Just In Passing

FIRST CIRCUIT GRAND JURY.

"The grand jury to be organized in the Morgan county circuit court on April 9, will be the first called together in this county in that court in years," said Deputy Sheriff Sid Williams. "Formerly all the grand jury work has been done by the inquisitorial body in the law and equity court, but since the abolition of the latter court, the circuit court must do the probing of crime in the county. The sheriff's office has been busy several days serving summons for petit and grand jury work."

Food For The Liver

Did you ever think of medicine as really food, the same as meat or potatoes? Yet that is what it really is. Sodium Bicarbonate—sounds rather threatening as a medicine, yet all housewives use baking soda for cooking every day.

Every organ in the body has the power to take that nourishment which makes it grow and remain healthy. Medicine is simply food containing elements that certain organs show an intense liking for. This there are certain herbs, fruits and plants that the liver shows a fondness for. They stimulate the liver the same as food stimulates and strengthens the whole body. These we call liver tonics or liver medicine.

By investigation it has been found that several of these vegetable products, combined with pepsin, form an admirable liver tonic, and they have accordingly been put up in pleasing, tasty form and sold as 333 Liver Tonic. They are mild in action and are not habit forming.

Dillehay Brothers and other good drug stores sell 333 Liver Tonic. You will find it just what you need for constipation or sluggish liver. Every 50-cent package is guaranteed to satisfy or money refunded. (Adv.)

Fertilizer, Flood Conditions and the Boll Weevil

Realizing the importance of securing a Fertilizer known to us to contain the proper chemicals, especially potash, we have on hand this season the reliable S. C. O. Co. brands we have handled in the past.

Potash will be very essential this season because of the impoverished conditions of our lands following last season's flood conditions and good Fertilizer is the worst enemy to the boll weevil.

With present prices for cotton and all farm products, Fertilizer will be doubly profitable to the farmer. Farm profits depend upon having a good supply of plant food on hand when it is needed.

Quality in flour means more than just baking quality. The most important result that you get from the extra fine quality of Valier's Dainty Flour is the extra fine flavor of your baking.

Valier's Dainty Flour is made of finest flavored wheat; milled by a special slow process, which saves all of the fine flavor; then sifted through silk to make its texture extra fine. It is quality flour and gives quality results in baking. Have your grocer send you Valier's Dainty next time you need flour. Brock & Spight Co., Distributors, Decatur, Ala.

SOCIETY

SILVER TEA.

A silver tea was given at the residence of Mrs. W. T. Lowe Thursday afternoon. The guests were received at the door by Mrs. Seneca Burr wearing a green velvet, bloused with flesh colored Georgette crepe, who ushered them into the reception suite, that, for the occasion, had been decorated with bowls brimming with jonquills. A very pleasing program was rendered by the Sun Beam Band, under the direction of Miss Zulee Gibson, and the Junior B. Y. P. U., directed by Miss Martha Weaver. Among those taking part were: Mildred Wilder, Sue Rives Brown, Luther Mays, Fred Bloodworth, Evelyn and Cecil McMillan, Peggy Davis, Thelma Wilder, Brownie Wilder. A song was sung by little Miss Lucy Thomas Roberts, and readings by Mildred Green, Kate Frazier and Jeannie Chenault. Mrs. F. G. Cook assisted the hostess in serving. Though the rain poured, the dining room of this pleasant home held a collection of Sun Beams that buzzed and radiated life.

COTACCO LITERARY.

Mrs. Eugene Guy, president.
Mrs. Hal Mullen, secretary.
Mrs. Gilbert Crane was hostess to 21.

Miss Gilbert Crane was hostess to the Cotacco Literary club Wednesday afternoon. The subject of study was "England to the Death of Queen Anne." Mrs. F. M. Robertson was the leader. During the social hour that followed Miss Ruby Winton rendered instrumental selections. A delightful ice course in the club colors was enjoyed.

MUSIC STUDY CLUB.

Mrs. E. W. Godbey, president.
Mrs. L. A. Neill, secretary.
Miss Alice Hatton, hostess, Mar. 21. The reception suite of Miss Hatton's home was comfortably filled with the members of the club who assembled Wednesday afternoon to hear the well-prepared program, of which the hostess was chairman. Every number was a gem, but the "Invitation to the Sun to Come Out," by Mary Penick was especially enjoyable. She gave it in delightful style, sending a ray of sunshine to every heart.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Callahan celebrated their twenty-fourth wedding anniversary Wednesday evening. Rook was the feature of entertainment, and for the game seven tables had been arranged in the prettily decorated reception suite. Top score was made by Mrs. Jack T. Jones. The evening's entertainment concluded with the service of an ice course.

MARRIED LADIES' BRIDGE.

Mrs. B. P. Wallace was hostess to the Married Ladies' Bridge club on Wednesday afternoon. The game was played at three tables, Mrs. C. B. Elliott making top score. Later a hot luncheon was served. Mrs. P. Parnelle and Mrs. Jno. W. Jones were the guests.

CIVIC LEAGUE.

The Civic League of Decatur will meet at the Decatur school Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. W. L. Goyer is expected to return from Birmingham today and with Mrs. J. K. Bartlett, of Mooresville, expects to leave for Annapolis, Md., on Saturday evening to be present at the graduation at the naval academy of their sons, Lewis Goyer and Sam Bartlett.

Mrs. Emma Sparkman, who underwent an operation at St. Vincent Infirmary at Birmingham Wednesday, is reported greatly improved.

Mrs. Brentz Preuit is in Chicago.

Mrs. Lewis Poynter is recovering from a recent illness.

Mrs. Ross, of Madisonville, Ky., is visiting Mrs. J. D. McNabb at the Tavern.

Little Miss Eleanor Ramage is suffering an attack of measles.

QUEEN IN HER OWN RIGHT

American Girl a Combination of All That is Exquisite in a World of Beauty.

We may be asked, "Well, what is an American girl?" She is just this: A vital person, with combination of health, vigor, wholesomeness and beauty. The fact that many American girls have in some instances a certain amount of hereditary blood makes them, as a class, a delightful combination of personalities. The typical American girl is usually described as being a tall, slender person, with free and graceful carriage, plenty of poise, and a face that bespeaks a well-balanced mind. One is apt to visualize her as a person who can adapt herself to any and all circumstances and be an interested and interesting conversationalist in groups of young and old. Taking her all in all, she is a person who is a delightful companion.

The American girl is generally considered beautiful. If technically analyzed, the main charm of her beauty lies in the fact that her features are chiseled, while many of her contemporaries are beautiful from the standpoint that their features are molded. There is a subtle difference. It would be difficult to state authentically just what the coloring of the American girl is, for she is invariably a blending of nationalities, and thus is a variation of type.

Xanten.

Xanten is a little old German city on the lower Rhine, close to the boundary of the Netherlands. It is the site of one of the most curious cathedrals in the world. The cathedral, in fact, seems to be Xanten's sole reason for existence. It has given the town its name, and whatever of reputation it may have. The cathedral in turn takes its name and its fame from the somewhat grisly contents it houses—the bones of 380 holy men and martyrs, carefully collected by the mother of an emperor. It is a storehouse crowded with the bones of saints—hence 'Santen, or Xanten.

The little city lies in a flat plain, of the sort that makes up the whole of the Netherlands, the Low Countries, to which the region belongs in almost everything but political affiliation. The Rhine here is a sullen murky stream, almost an arm of an inland sea, lashed by storms that whip in cold and gray clouded from the German ocean. The two spires of Xanten cathedral arise from the flatness like twin exclamation points, like the concrete protest of their builders against the monotony of the landscape.

AMERICA'S LEANING TOWER

An impressive old lighthouse on the coast of Louisiana has set itself up as a rival of the Leaning Tower of Pisa, which has gained for itself world's celebrity. This watch tower of the Gulf coast was first pushed out of true by one of the terrific hurricanes to which the region is exposed. Then the waves ate beneath its foundation of sand and aided in its undoing. Another light was built in a less exposed position and the leaning tower was abandoned. Though the cracks in its white sides are yawning ominously it still stands in defiance of the laws of gravity.

To Keep the Stove Clean.

By simply placing a colander over the frying pan while in use the cooking is improved and the stove kept free from grease spatter.

Remarkable Premonition.

A striking instance of premonition is reported from Griffithstown, Monmouthshire, Great Britain. While a maternity nurse was walking home, she had a presentiment that her patient and the child whom she had just left were in danger. Hurrying home, she prevailed upon her husband, a member of the local fire brigade, to go to the post office, where he found the bedroom occupied by the sub-postmistress and her baby to be on fire. He removed the mother and child and extinguished the fire, which had originated in a wooden beam near the fireplace.

He Had Two Suits.

A little Columbus girl had never seen her Uncle Sam, but she had heard of him often. He came from Indianapolis to visit her the other day and she was somewhat surprised.

"Don't you think Uncle Sam is a nice-looking man?" her mother asked. "Yes," she admitted, "but where are his red, white and blue clothes?"—Indianapolis News.

WOULD HAVE GIVEN $1,000 TO BE ABLE TO EAT A HEARTY MEAL

FARRELL SAYS HE SUFFERED FOR 24 YEARS AND WAS SLOW-
LY STARVING—GAINS 20 POUNDS ON TANLAC.

"It's the positive truth, before I took Tanlac I would have gladly given a thousand dollars to have been able to eat the supper I have just finished tonight," said John Farrell, 222 Berry street, Nashville. Mr. Farrell has lived in Nashville sixty-one years. "Jack" was his familiar name on the Cumberland and Ohio rivers, where for twenty-eight years he followed steamboating. He was at one time a member of the Nashville police force, and for ten years he made a most efficient officer. He was also deputy sheriff for two years, and is known by nearly everybody in and around Nashville.

"I have been a sufferer for twenty-four years," continued Mr. Farrell, "and for the past seven years especially my condition has been terrible. My stomach trouble seemed to be of a peculiar form. In just a few minutes after drinking water it would ferment and come out at my mouth and feel almost as hot as if it came from a furnace. I could not even bear the smell of things cooking. All I could eat was a little toast and milk, and that hurt me, and I got so weak I could hardly move about the house. My feet and ankles would swell until my feet were round under the bottom and I couldn't walk a step. I had the best treatment, but I kept going down."

"Before I finished the first bottle of Tanlac I began to eat and I noticed it didn't hurt me. I kept on taking it and picking up until I have taken five bottles and I can now eat anything I want—beans, corn, potatoes and boiled bacon—and everything agrees with me. I have gone from one hundred and twenty-four pounds to a hundred and forty-four—a net gain of twenty pounds—and I feel like I had been made over into a new man. All that swelling has gone out of my feet and legs, and I have the strength to go where I please. I actually would not take all the money in Nashville for what Tanlac has done for me."

Tanlac is sold in Albany exclusively by Preuit-Dillehay Drug Co.; in Decatur by Decatur Drug Co.; in Trinity by O. E. Young Drug Co.; in Flint by C. E. Poole & Co.; in Priceville by J. E. Matthews; in Somerville by W. T. Ransom, and in Danville by B. S. Stover. (Adv.)

Congress To Brush Aside Party Lines

ing to protect its citizens on the high seas.

All parties and factions will be forgotten in the stress of the action in preparing the nation for war. The situation in the house is unique, neither party being certain of enough votes to organize and elect the speaker.

In view of this it is believed that until the president delivers his message to the assembled bodies, no effort will be made to organize along the usual lines.

Only Place For Nitrate Plant Is Muscle Shoals

his feet there was no Brussel's carpet, but only a cement sidewalk; over his head there was nothing but the blue canopy of God's heavens. The interview occurred on Church street, just above the Hilda.

"Where is your special car?" he was asked.

"Special car—why I have no special car. I am a democrat, not a republican," he laughingly retorted. Col. C. C. Harris, former congressman from the Eighth district, who was showing Mr. and Mrs. Marshall over the city, added: "Not only no special car, but he picked the poorest train the L. & N. operates on this division—the accommodation."

Mrs. Marshall might also have interspersed that conversation with clever repartee, but for the fact that she was busily engaged at the moment watching the antics of a dog across the street. The canine was running himself to death retrieving a ball some one would toss away every time he brought it back.

"Mrs. Marshall has found a dog since she has been here," her distinguished husband explained. They are just that human. Shorn of his official duties, the occupant of the second highest office within the gift of the people of the United States, now is nothing more than an American—he points with pride to the Stars and Stripes he wears on his coat lapel and admits it. "I am just an American."

State of War Exists.

"I have not been in Washington since the sinking of the American boats by the German submarines and consequently do not know just how the capital is taking it," he said.

"Do you consider a state of war now existing between this nation and the German empire?" he was asked.

"Why, certainly I do," he replied. "If I attacked you and beat you, would you not consider it assault and battery?"

Chattanooga Woman Hunts For Husband

Mrs. M. J. Moon Believes Missing
Spouse May Be In Alabama.

Mrs. M. J. Moon, of Chattanooga, Tenn., has asked the Albany-Decatur Daily to aid in the search for her husband, W. F. Moon, who disappeared from Chattanooga March 6. A liberal reward is offered for information of Mr. Moon's whereabouts.

According to a letter from Mrs. Moon, her husband was 6 feet one inch in height, had a dark mustache, brown eyes and several gold teeth. At the time he disappeared he had a ladies' gold watch engraved with the letters "M. J. D." Mr. Moon was a special agent in the employ of the N. C. & St. L. railroad and guarded a railroad yard at Chattanooga. His family fear that he either met with violence at the hands of car thieves or was drowned in the Tennessee river and his body may have floated to Decatur.

If any information is secured relative to Mr. Moon it should be sent by mail or wire to Mrs. M. J. Moon, 7214 Cherry street, Chattanooga, Tenn.

NAVY IS ASKING FOR MANY MEN

VACANCIES EXIST IN YARDS
THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY, AT GOOD WAGES.

Naval yards, naval stations and arsenals are needing men. This is the message that has come to W. G. Gentry, local civil service secretary, who has been urged to go out into the industrial ranks and make the needs of the naval department known.

A long list of places, from foremen to laborers, that are to be filled at once, in order to put the naval establishment on a war footing, have been mailed out to civil service officials throughout the country. Mr. Gentry is showing the list to those who are interested. The wages paid run from $2.50 for day laborers to handsome salaries for the higher-ups. Navy yards are located at Boston, Mass.; Portsmouth, N. H.; Brooklyn, N. Y.; Philadelphia, Pa.; Washington, D. C.; Norfolk, Va.; Charleston, S. C.; Vallejo, Cal.; and Bremerton, Wash. Naval stations are located at Newport, R. I.; Key West, Fla.; New Orleans, La.; and Honolulu, H. T. Arsenals are located at Augusta, Ga.; Benicia, Cal.; Dover, N. J.; Fort Hancock, N.
